Ooredoo International Roaming.

Enabling roaming. Roaming is disabled by default on prepaid lines and enabled by default on postpaid lines. Enable or disable it at any time in the My Ooredoo app under Roaming, or by calling 1111. The change takes effect within 15 minutes.

Roaming passes. Maghreb Pass: 20 dinars for 1 GB and 30 minutes of calls, valid 7 days across Algeria, Morocco and Libya. Europe Pass: 50 dinars for 3 GB and 60 minutes, valid 15 days. World Pass: 90 dinars for 5 GB and 60 minutes, valid 15 days. A pass is activated in the app before or during travel and starts on first use abroad.

Pay as you go. Without a pass, data abroad is charged at 1 dinar per MB in Europe and 2 dinars per MB elsewhere, so a pass is strongly recommended. Incoming calls while roaming are charged; outgoing calls to Tunisia cost 2 dinars per minute in Europe.

Spending cap. A roaming spending cap of 100 dinars is applied by default. When the cap is reached, roaming data stops and an SMS is sent; the cap can be raised or removed in the app.

Coverage. Roaming works on partner networks in more than 150 countries. If the phone does not register abroad, select the operator manually in the phone's network settings and make sure data roaming is switched on in the device as well as in the app.
